

November 2016

Najib Balala, Cabinet Secretary for Tourism

The Cabinet Secretary for Tourism, Najib Balala has challenged university students to maintain their brand and uphold ethics even as they finish their term as university students and join the job market.

He urged the students to embrace small beginnings in life. Speaking to final year students, from the College of Humanities and Social Sciences, the CS touched on various issues of life outside campus.

“You need education. Education is very important, apart from education; you need luck, hard-work and good moral ethics. We have enough to satisfy our need and not greed. I urge you to embrace simplicity in life. Emulate the great leaders we have in the society. Live simplicity and enjoy a safer lifestyle,” said Mr. Balala.

He talked about the importance of getting internships after completing their studies to enable them gain the much needed work experience. Work experience, he said, will enable them land good jobs.